

Consultation on Remedies in Public Procurement

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

There are two Directives laying down remedies in relation to public procurement: Directive 89/665/EEC, which covers the public sector, and Directive 92/13/EEC, which covers the utilities sector. Both Directives were thoroughly amended by Directive 2007/66/EC.

The Remedies Directives require, as regards contracts falling within the scope of the Directives laying down substantive rules on public procurement (Directive 2004/17/EC and Directive 2004/18/EC, which are being replaced by Directive 2014/23/EU, Directive 2014/24/EU and Directive 2014/25/EU), that decisions taken by contracting authorities or contracting entities may be reviewed effectively and, in particular, as rapidly as possible, on the grounds that such decisions have infringed EU public procurement law. Member States must ensure that the review procedures are available at least to any person having or having had an interest in obtaining a particular contract and who has been or risks being harmed by an alleged infringement.

The Remedies Directives allow actions to be brought both before the contract is signed (pre-contractual remedies) and after (post-contractual remedies). Pre-contractual remedies are intended to correct the infringement of the public procurement rules in the course of the tendering procedure and in any event, before the contract becomes effective. These include the right of interim measures, a compulsory standstill period and the requirement to suspend the award procedure whilst the appeal is being investigated to prevent the award of the contract. On the other hand, post-contractual remedies aim to declare an existing contract ineffective and/or to provide compensation (mainly damages) to the affected parties after the contract in question has been awarded.

Directive 2007/66/EC obliges the Commission to report to the European Parliament and to the Council on the effectiveness of the Remedies Directives, in particular of the alternative penalties and time limits.

Furthermore, the Commission singled out Directive 2007/66/EC to undergo an evaluation under REFIT (Regulatory Fitness and Performance programme) in 2015. The objective of this evaluation is to assess the functioning of the provisions introduced by Directive 2007/66/EC.

This public consultation should be understood in the context of the above-mentioned report to the Parliament and the Council and evaluation under REFIT.

Additional comments (please specify to which question/questions they relate)

Eine Überarbeitung der Rechtsmittelrichtlinie halten wir für entbehrlich. Insbesondere gebietet es die Funktionsfähigkeit des kommunalen Beschaffungswesens, dass nach einer angemessenen Zeit zur Nachprüfung das Vertrauen von Auftraggeber und Beauftragten auf den Rechtsbestand geschützt ist. Eine Änderung, vor allem in Form einer Verschärfung oder Verlängerung der Fristen ist nicht geboten.

Zum Abbau der Bürokratie und Vereinfachung der Regelungen im Vergabeverfahren könnte allenfalls die Aufhebung der geltenden Regelungen dienen. Die nationalen Rechtsmittelverfahren sind in diesem Bereich ausreichend. Insbesondere besteht in Deutschland die Möglichkeit für die Bieter einen Antrag auf einstweiligen Rechtsschutz zu stellen. Die Unternehmen sind folglich bereits ausreichend geschützt, so dass europäische Regelungen in diesem Bereich entbehrlich sind.
